Dear voters, ive been following the contest for a long time but i havent got much information about the contest/poll/rules/moderation. So I decided to make this topic to help others who are all new to Reddit this year. First i would like to congratulate both, theCreators of the contest and Reddit admins, for making this in The Reddit language, a safe and friendly place for people to share knowledge and talk about things they enjoy, both at work and home. With that being said, i would like to use this post to ask you some questions about the topic: Comment down below and answer these questions. Loading. 10 SHARE Ok guys, I'm writing this because I feel like Im missing something here and would love to see what the rest of the community think about this. This is not a yes or no, just make your opinion. This is a poll for reasons I would like to know. Its 100% unbiased and Myself and my friend have never got a single comment or comment favor or disfavor towards someone so please don't call us biased and yes it can be old. Is your opinion based on real life or personal experience or you just think this person has some talent and you just see it? Think about it. I'm still confused so please explain. : Loading. Share On Facebook0 Share On Twitter- 30. No. On the Reddit submission, you left the "like" and "dislike" buttons as featured comments. Instead of being options, those buttons are now icons that look like thumbs up or thumbs down. This is distracting and makes it seem as though those buttons are actually voting. .. In all the prior posts, the favorites' and comments' icons were used to denote the favor/disfavor thing with the comments as well. I suggest putting the favorites' and comments' icons BACK on the panels where they have been in the submission for awhile. I do not like this change. I want to leave the feedback, and then when I want to, I can still click the buttons and look at the comments. Which is what I did do before the recent change. Commenting on the submission does not imply a "like" or "dislike". Thank you. Load More Related Content. Please wait while we process your request. How can I keep my comments private? When I create a post, some of my comments are private. I do not want the world to see them,

NO. 07-04-0541-CR IN THE COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE SEVENTH DISTRICT OF TEXAS AT AMARILLO PANEL E MARCH 22, 2006 _____ JON MICHAEL MCCARROLL, APPELLANT V. THE STATE OF TEXAS, APPELLEE _____ FROM THE 242ND DISTRICT COURT OF HALE COUNTY; NO. B14976-0406; HONORABLE ED SELF, JUDGE _____ Before REAVIS and CAMPBELL and HANCOCK, JJ. ON MOTION FOR REHEARING On original submission, this Court affirmed appellant Jon Michael McCarroll's conviction for robbery. McCarroll filed a motion for rehearing which we overruled without written opinion. He then filed a motion for rehearing by petition in which he requests this Court reconsider his case in light of the additional arguments he makes in his motion for rehearing. His motion for rehearing by petition is overruled.

My husband is an avid runner and yoga yogi, so when I asked him if I could have a yoga class with him this week, he was more than happy to oblige! (... And so is the little dude, too!) It was not typical yoga, however, as we are currently trying to cut back on sugar in our diets. Instead, we practiced postures to focus our minds and move from our hindering thoughts of the day, and I learned how to use the space around me to bring me to a mindful state. I mean, we need to get the sugar out of our diets (that's right, I'm saying it), but we still need to
