A realistic challenge The Power Discs Training Program Little known secret of the sport disc golf Why buy this? This game is based on the Power Discs training program. This 10-level course is one of the best and most efficient training programs to become a disc golf pro. A trainer is there for you to talk you through all 10 levels and help you master any of them. To become a pro you need at least 3 players to play together. This is an incredible game for all real disc golf fans. Three players, 14 Power Discs (please remember to read the "Multiple Players" section under Setup!) and a small survival pack. Play out the game and learn to become a pro disc golfer. You will get to know yourself, like yourself and then finally become one of the best in the sport. This is a very accurate representation of the training program. It will lead you through the same stuff as the true training program and as such it is a perfect blend of the two. Can you teach your dog to become a disc golfer? Learn to become a disc golfer with Power Discs. You and your dog have the very same training program. It will help your dog to learn the same stuff as you. It will teach you how to teach your dog the same as yourself. So you can improve your training skills. The training program uses the same names as the true training program. The only thing you will need is a piece of paper with all 10 Power Discs names and a few of the problems. What are the Power Discs? The Power Discs are the only discs able to be used in disc golf and they are the discs we all aspire to use on a daily basis. The Power Discs are limited only by our ability to throw well. They are for the more experienced disc golfer who wants to test their skills. When you start the training program you will throw the seven power discs. The power discs will become your friends. They will help you to become a disc golfer and you will truly learn how to throw like a professional. You will also learn which disc is best suited for certain situations. What are the Power Discs? In the training program you will learn to throw the Power Discs. You will learn each of the discs perfectly and also how to throw them. You will have a look at their different uses. You will learn c9d1549cdd

Obtaining a list of dictionaries from a JSON file in Python I have a JSON file which looks like this: { "room1": { "id": "XYZ", "location": "World1", "status": "active", "payment_status": "active", "total_amount": "0", "url": "/api/cic/room1", "company_code": "25" } } I want to access this using JSON which is stored in a string format. I am using this code: content = "{ \"room1\": { \"id\": \"XYZ\", \"location\": \"World1\", \"status\": \"active\", \"payment_status\": \"active\", \"total_amount\": \"0\", \"url\": \"/api/cic/room1\", \"company_code\": \"25\" } }" with open('data.json', 'r') as f: obj = json.loads(f.read()) My question is, how do I access the 'room1' dictionary from the content variable in a list of dictionaries (or dictionary)? I want to get a list of dicts as the output and not just one dict as I am getting currently.
A: You can use the in operator to check whether a key is in the dictionary, and then use the dict.get method to retrieve it: d = { "room1": { "id": "XYZ", "location": "World1", "status": "active", "payment_status": "active", "total_amount": "0", "url": "/api/cic/room1", "company_code": "25" } } lst = [d.get(k, None) for k in "room1"] print(lst) Output: [None, 'id': 'XYZ', 'location': 'World1', 'status': 'active', 'payment_status': 'active', 'total_amount': '0',

Beglov Style is a book by Herbert Mamiga and was first published in 1968. In the book, two imaginary characters were described. They are described as "Fray Chico" and "Fray Jonas". History Beglov Style was first published in 1968 on 16 pages. In 1971, it was published as "A Fraction of a 'Begin'ng", which consisted of 25 pages. In 1979, the book was published again and published as "A Commence Rendezvous", which consisted of 50 pages. In 1989, it was published as a cdrom and had a 70-page booklet with the book titled "Fray Chico! Peter the Wise". The author claimed that it was his most well-known book. In 2001, it was published as "What Is a Writer? A Beginner's Guide". The year 2013 has had an 80-page paperback reprint of the original anthology, the original "Fray Chico! Peter the Wise". In 2015, it was reprinted again, this time as a loose book edition. Introduction "Beglov Style" was an interdisciplinary approach and a book that was written by a group of writers and poets, in the same time, it included a great deal of commercial and industrial items. "Beglov Style" is an imagined story that is told by a writer. There is a dual narration of the characters. The "Fray Chico" ("Peter the Wise") and "Fray Jonas" ("Fray Chico"), the thinker and the speaker of lyricism, are two different people. "Fray Chico" was implied to be Fra Michelangelo. His work was "El Maestro" and his companion was "El Maestro" ("The Master"). They are the same person. "Fray Chico" is a human and a logoic character. Other delights "Beglov Style" begins with a quotation from "The Prince" by Macpherson: "The Delight Is in the Journey." Fray Chico Chico was "From Ermelo." In 1595, he was 26 years old and he had good luck in his hand. He had been appointed to the office of Grand Mathematician of the Tongue of His Majesty on the surety of the said nouns. At the tender of the Sire of the Serene Qing the new language was being prepared, which

HappenLance is an epic joust-'em-up that's best described as 'Super Meme Bros. Fighters'. A bright and hilarious interface drenched in tons of character, HappenLance provides an intense singleplayer story and a wealth of online multiplayer modes. Fight against your friends and go head-to-head in an epic series of weekly tournaments! New to the series: Your character has 2 modes! The 'Pretender Mode' (default) lets you play as any of the pretenders to the throne, with a choice of the 3 already available! The 'King Mode' (optional) makes you play as the great Sir Happenlance himself. Features Singleplayer Gameplay: - 3 different Pretenders to the Throne - 12 levels - 2 Game Modes - Epic Story Campaign - 20 weapons - Different Classes - Loadouts (up to 4) - 20+ Elements (20 normal, 20 magical, 20 arrows, 20 mines) - Online Multiplayer (co-op, PvP) - Ping-based Rollback Network Code Online Multiplayer Gameplay: - Beat any opponent in online multiplayer in 2-player combat against 2 of your friends - 2 players will be fighting in a choice of 1v1, 2v2 or 1v2 matches (2v3 matches also possible) - 8 different fighters, 5 weapons and 5 classes - Weekly Trophies and other Achievements Social Gameplay: - Invite your friends for a multiplayer head-to-head joust - Fight your friends - Start a tournament against your friends - Fight your friends in Quickplay matches - Fight against your friends in 'Deathmatch' A: HappenLance: The Game Of The Year Award winner! It's definitely more of an RPG than it is a jousting game, but the time I just spent playing this game can't be summarized in a small sentence. For anyone looking for a new multiplayer game, or if you enjoy multi-universes games with humor, this game is worth the price! Gameplay Everything revolves around the concept of either jousting or fighting. You only have one life bar (presumably because your shields can regenerate), and you spend your money on 'gems'. Gems are used for combat, health, or to buy upgrades/power-ups. You can also use gems to boost yourself into the sky

Bruce Springsteen: 'Wrecking Ball' is Bridge to Justice Bruce Springsteen is making earnest statements about guns in America, and while it goes against the grain of its provocative subject matter, it earns points for being high-minded amid the flurry of "Wrecking Ball" harangues Sure, it's straight out of the usual Springsteen "us-vs.-them" playbook. But the fact that he takes his stance on guns in the context of a song dedicated to a 71-year-old Vietnam vet with no known real-world firearms experience isn't even going to tempt some critics. "Let's face it: America has been bombing its way out of this mess for centuries," Springsteen says in the summer release of "Wrecking Ball" from his 12th studio album, to which he admitted he had no intention of tackling social issues. "Now we're beginning to lay out a peace pact that at least gives us options. That can't be overlooked. I'm not gonna play that card, but that's the only card we have here in the short time frame we've been able to grab." Of course, Springsteen wasn't alone. A collective chorus of songwriters — like the ones on the "We Are the World"-like song "We Take Care of Our Own" — took aim at the
