During the past few years a number of animal studies have shown that a reduction in the level of the glial cell line-derived neurotrophic factor (GDNF) alters the neuronal network in the hippocampus and leads to the development of kindling-like seizures. The results of these experiments suggest that a pathogenic process has been initiated in the hippocampus by reduction in the level of glial cell line-derived neurotrophic factor. As a result abnormal neuron-glia interactions occur leading to the development of epilepsy. It is hypothesized that cognitive impairment may be the consequence of epileptic discharges in some patients with partial temporal lobe epilepsy.Q: What's the
